Once upon a time there was a bird family who lived in a scary cave. Their names were Sarah, Jim, James, Lily and Sam. Sarah was the mum, Jim was the dad, James was the oldest child and Lily was the second oldest and Sam was a baby. They were very fluffy and soft and very very kind. There were two nasty, mischievous, mean robbers, who were trying to steal Lily. One night they broke into the cave and stole Lily, but 100 100 the owl best friends with Lily saw and followed. But got caught by the robber Jack the head of them. Morning came and they were in a cage when they woke up which had a button to lift up the bars. Back at the cave everyone was looking everywhere and then Belinda, Thom and Whoa whoa (Whoa Whoa was same age as James who was ten and Belinda and Thom were the mum and dad) came and said "do you know where 100 100 is, he's gone". Sarah said "I bet Jack and Charlie got them". Meanwhile Lily and 100 100 were giving upon how to escape, but then Jack slipped and hit the button to get out. They made a dash for it as they rapidly soared through the air to get to the entrance. They got out but then Too Too said "we are lost" but then Lily said "no we are not silly, look we are at the path where we met the first time. If we follow it we will be at home in no time!" So they followed it back home. When everyone saw them they gave them a great big amazing hug.
